CALL FOR PAPERS

Aim and Scope

The 7th IEEE International Conference “Big Data, Knowledge and Control Systems Engineering” (BdkCSE’2021) aims to provide an open forum for the dissemination of the current research progress, innovative approaches and original research results on all aspects of Big Data Management, Technologies, and Applications. Organizer of the BdkCSE’2019 Conference is the John Atanasoff Union of Automatics and Informatics, with co-organizers the Institute of Information and Communication Technologies of the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences. The technical sponsor is IEEE IM/CS/SMC Joint Chapter of Bulgaria.

Topics such as product development, innovation management, and research and development management have become very popular. Big data spans dimensions as volume, variety, velocity, volatility and veracity, steered towards one critical destination – value. Following from these, the conference is devoted toward improving the understanding, systems engineering, human cognition and modeling, and data. The conference will help the research community identify the novel important contributions and opportunities for recent research on the different intelligent methodologies and techniques in the field.
